

'Always'

When the dawn arrives,
a new day starts,
even once in a while
a new life begins.

Every single day,
you get the chance
to experience new sensations,
to revive sweet moments,
but also
bitter ones.
No matter what those are,
you get to live.

In a lifetime,
there's always room
for a smile,
for a broken heart,
for lust,
for love,
and even
for hate.
And yet,
you mustn't reject
anything.
If you do,
what's then
the point of living?

There's always room
for an empty promise,
for forgiveness and for oblivion.
For tears and for fights.
For life and death.
For a calm sunset and a tormented night.

There's always room for you to be alive,
to chose,
to change,
to stop
or just to be,
as long as you want.